

FIG. 1 is a block diagram of a system for processing raw data (new words) into a new corpus with trained pronunciation. The system includes a raw data input (26), a processing unit (30), and a trained corpus output (28). The processing unit (30) is shown as a grid of circles representing letters and phonemes, with arrows indicating the flow of information from raw data to the trained corpus.

225133-600-010

FIG. 1

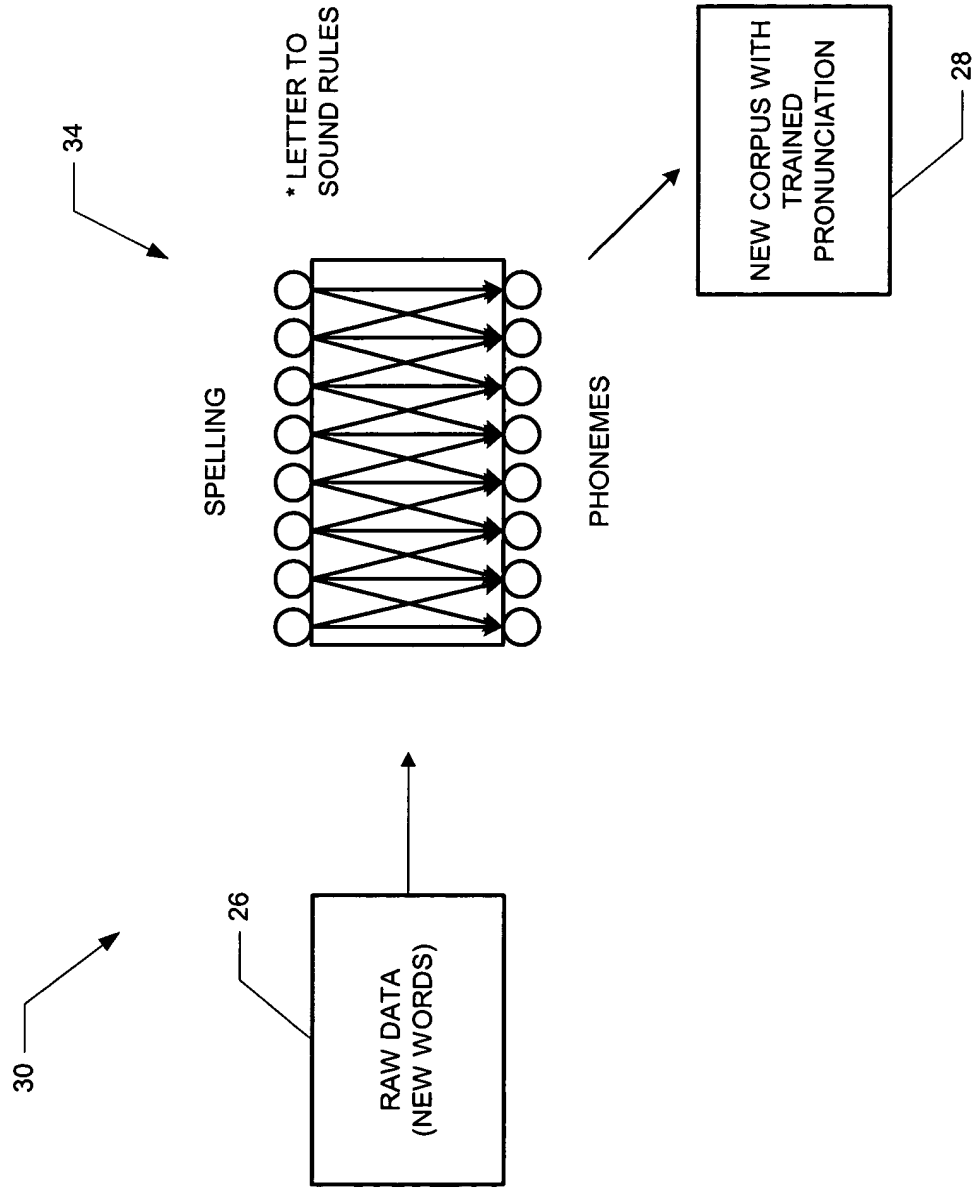

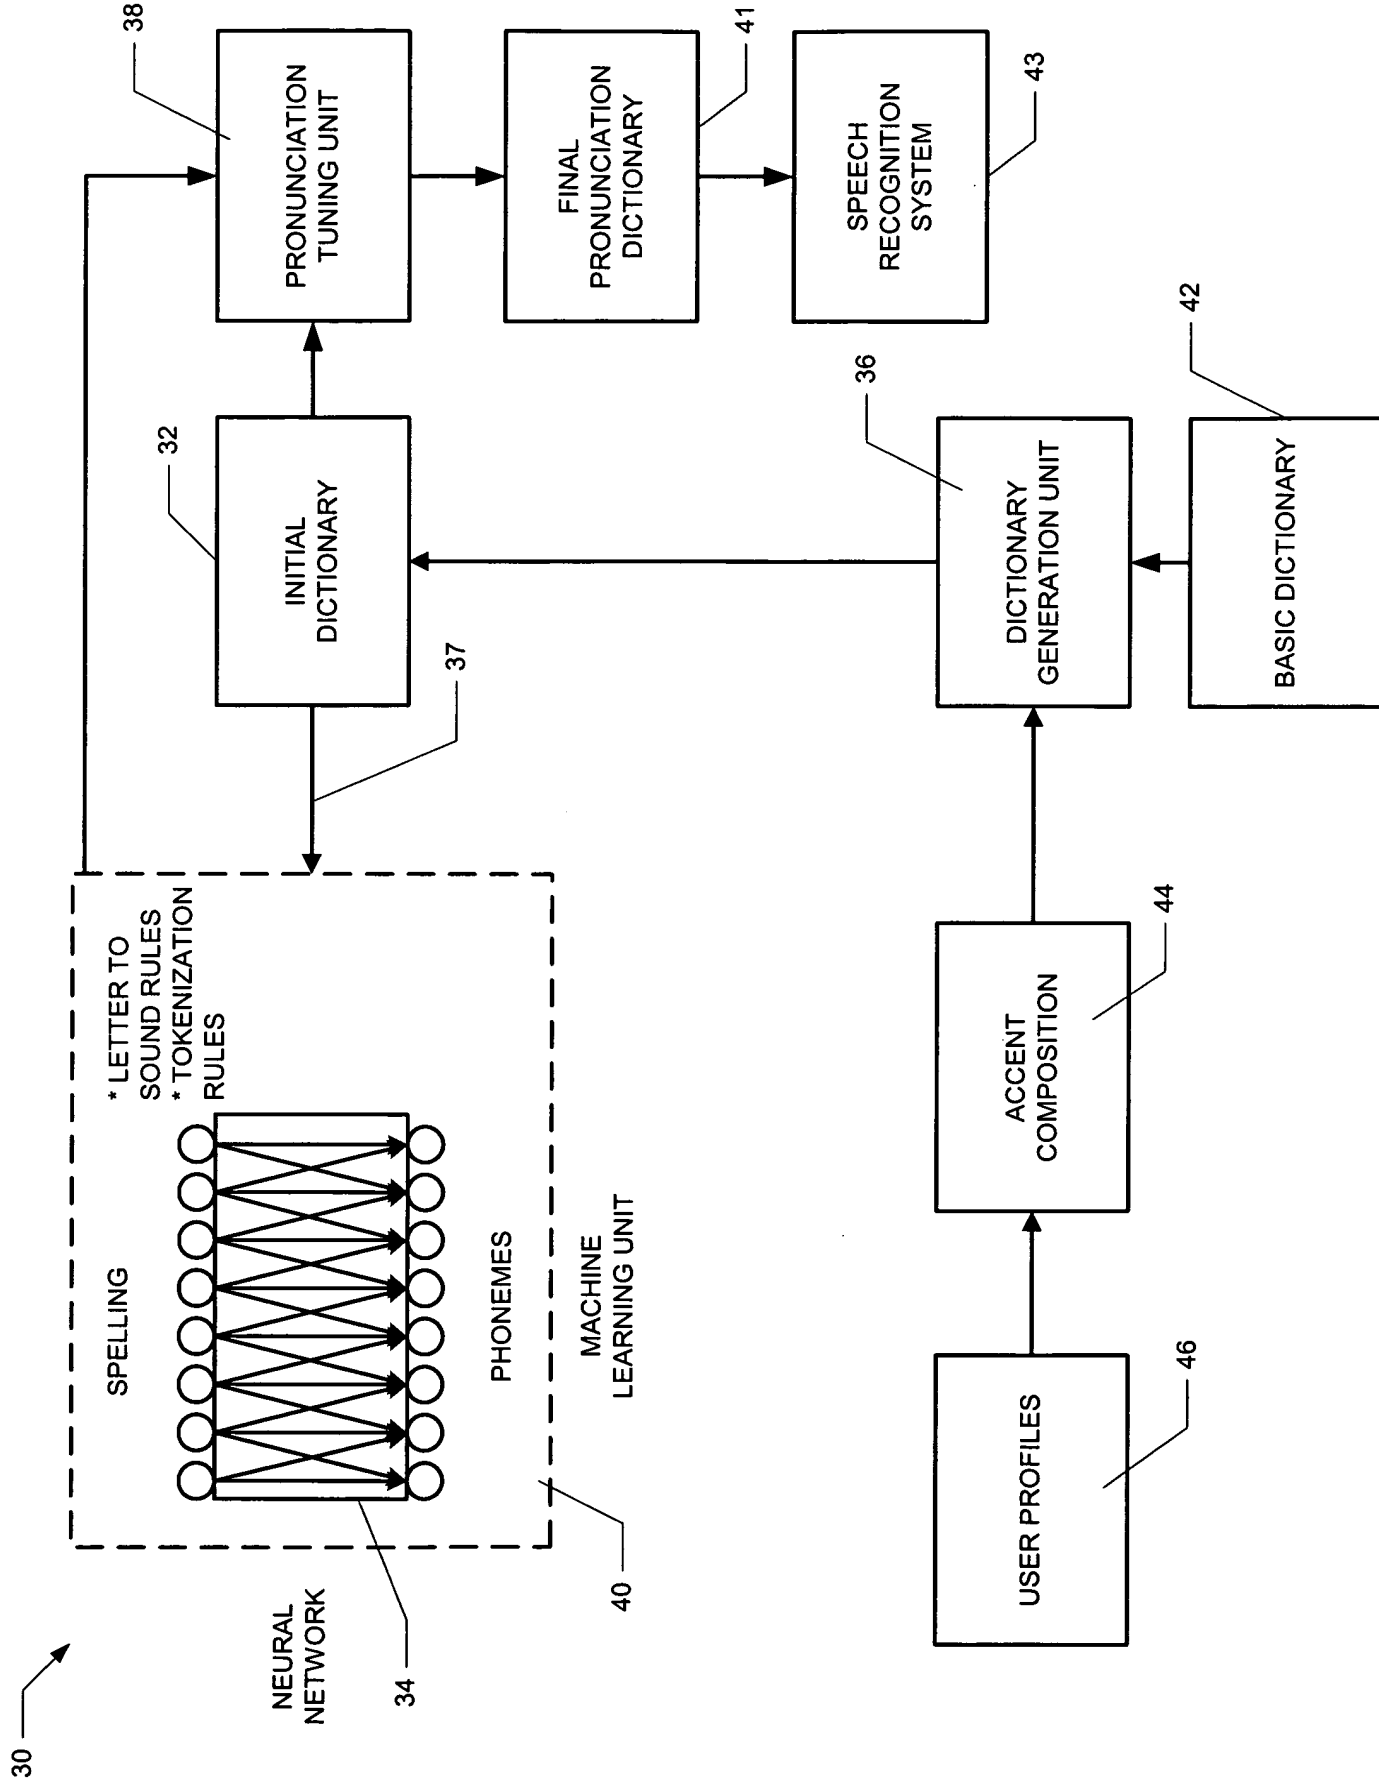

FIG. 2

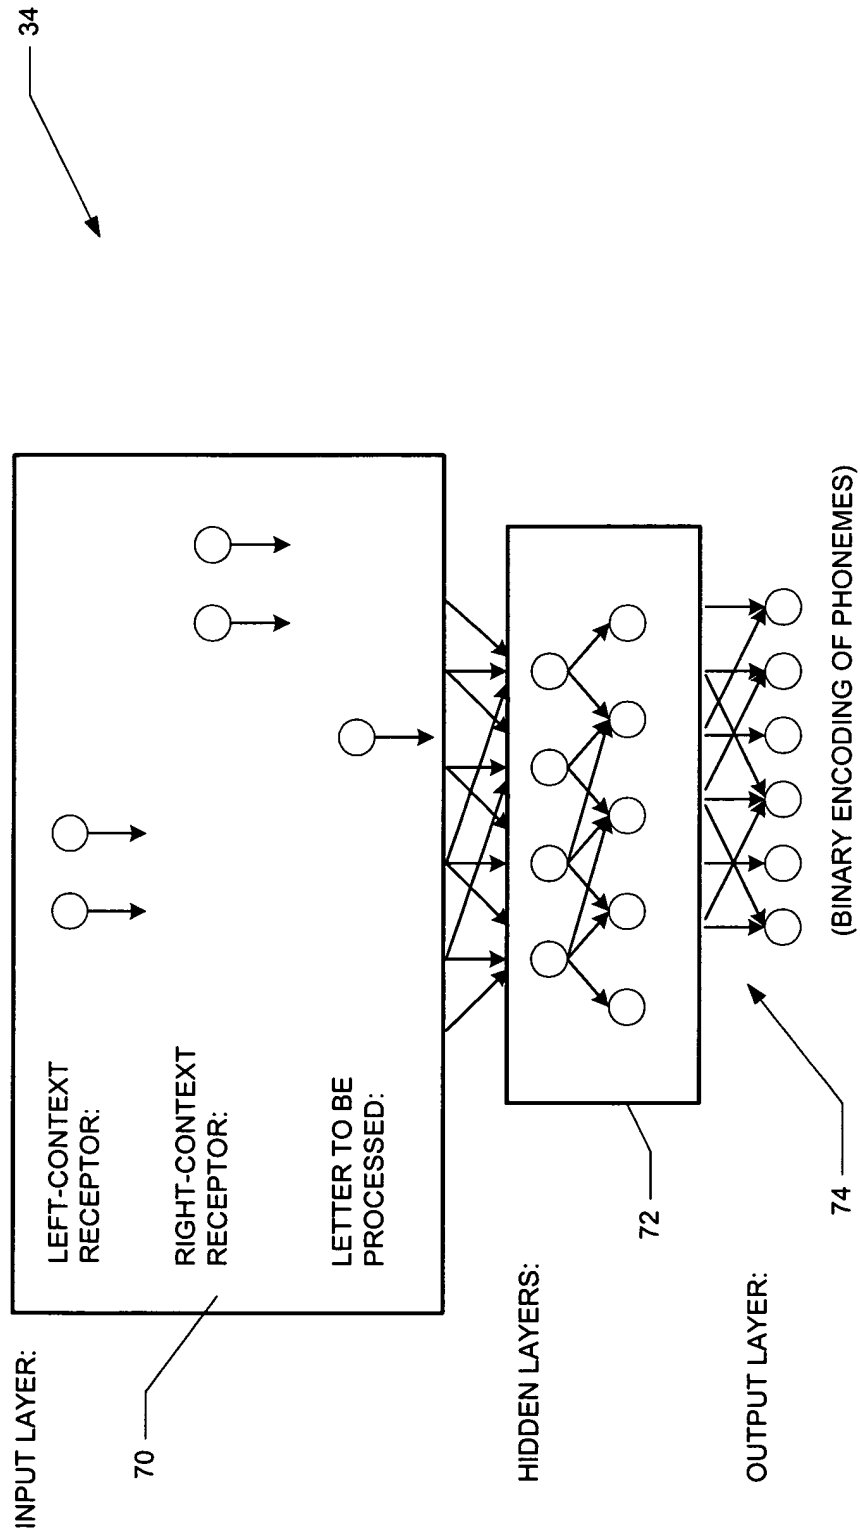

FIG. 3

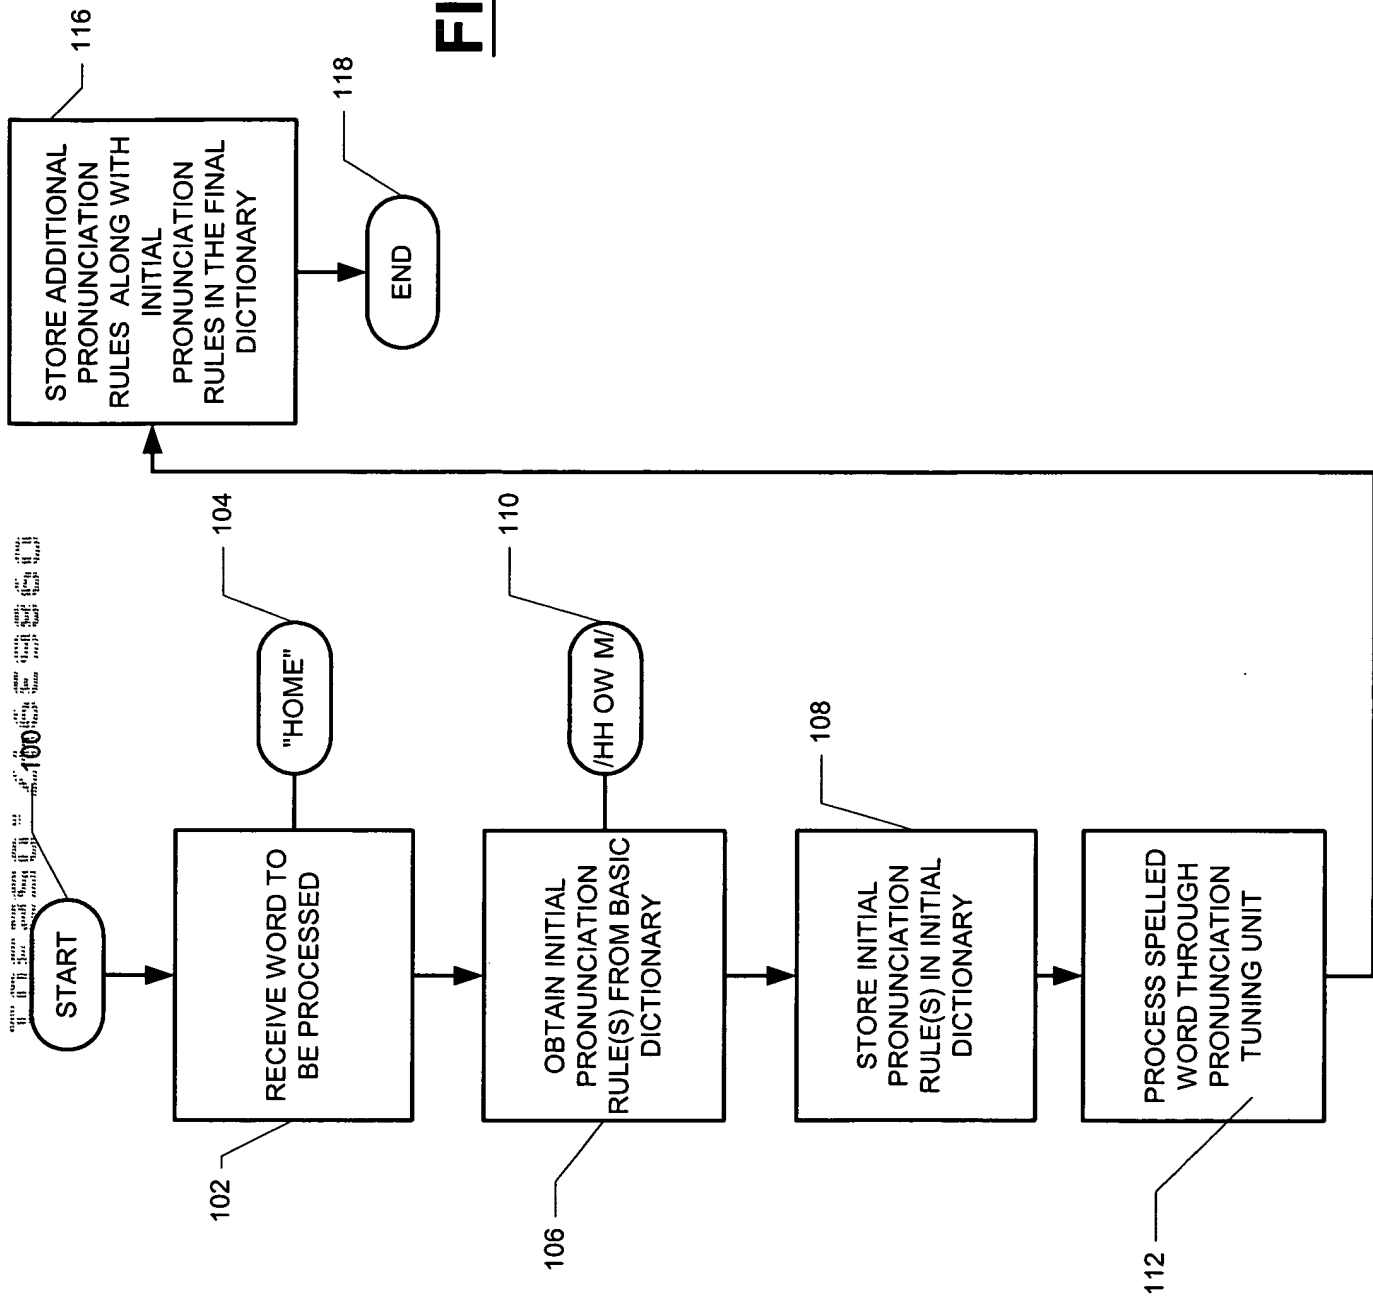

FIG. 4